

Honey's Story by Karin Notaro

One day I had a surprise phone call. "You have to come and see this! There are nine gorgeous little Ridgeback cross puppies here!" This is when I met Honey. She was calm and gentle and beautiful and I fell in love with her.

Honey is now two years old and has become my constant companion. She meets and greets the visitors at my workplace and looks after everyone's safety. We enjoy long, quiet walks along the river or in the rainforest. And we both love learning new things. Honey and I can't wait to get home to practise some of our new tricks, play a game and try out some new moves in agility training. While I believe I am teaching Honey, she is teaching me at the same time to be patient, not to be too serious and to have fun!

Thank you, Honey, for all the joy and love you bring into my life!
