

Princess' story by Claire Tunbridge

Last year we read in the newspaper that there was a litter of red cattle dogs for sale. We thought it was time to get a new friend for our other dog at home. When we arrived at the house, we saw the greatest sight; puppies! Smiles were all around and tears were shed. There we saw her. She was the whitest girl out of all her siblings, as well as the smallest. It took a few days to come up with a name that suited her. Well, we still aren't sure if it does since she gets up to some mischief! At last we decided on a name, Princess Duff. (Duff as in Duff Beer from The Simpsons). Princess' favourite hobby is chasing a ball. If it wasn't so exhausting, she would spend hours doing it.

Princess is the most loyal dog you will ever meet. She follows us around everywhere. We may get annoyed at how clingy she is but at the end of the day, we simply adore having her around. Princess pays a huge part of our life and we love her.
